If you want to apply for a NSW Restricted Game Hunting Licence, it is important to read about how to become accredited and qualify for the licence before you apply.

The Restricted licence (R-licence) allows you to hunt game and feral animals on public land (NSW) that has been declared for hunting and opened, or on private land with the permission of the landholder.

Before qualifying for an R-licence, you must become a member of an Approved Hunting Organisation (AHO). You must also maintain your membership for your R-licence to remain valid.

SSAA QLD and SSAA Brisbane are Approved Hunting Organisations. (AHO)
